

Recovery Resource Center Psychosocial Rehabilitation and Recovery Center (PRRC)

The Recovery Resource Center (PRRC) provides longer-term, intensive, psychosocial skills training services for individuals with SMI (Schizophrenia, Schizoaffective Disorder, Delusional Disorder, Bipolar I Disorder, Major Depression and Severe PTSD).

A veteran matches well with our services if they:

1. Have one of the aforementioned diagnoses and serious functional problems as a result of the mental illness
2. Recovery goals centered around improving their life, reducing the impact of symptoms on functioning, etc.
3. Some ability or interest to participate in groups and develop goals
4. Absence of:
 - severe cognitive problems that preclude the ability to learn
 - primary substance abuse and/or
 - personality disorder

Co-occurring substance abuse is certainly acceptable if they do not require a greater level (i.e., residential treatment) and co-morbid personality disorder may be considered if those issues are not primary and would not be disruptive to the rehabilitative milieu.
